

PRESS RELEASE JMS,
Aerodynamic Components and Cor.Speed Wheels in the Audi A5 B9 Sportback

JMS Fahrzeugteile has been known for a long time not only as a retail location for Cor.Speed Sports Wheels and Barracuda Racing Wheels, but also has been successful with its own range of aerodynamic add-on parts. The specialists are proving this again now with their range for the Audi A5 from the current series B9.

A car in the popular Sportback version serves as a sample vehicle here; however, the components also work for the coupe and the convertible.

This applies to the JMS exclusive line front spoiler lip as long as the vehicle is equipped with an S line package or is an S5. The lip features an integrated diffuser, as well as implied air intakes and is available for EUR 369. A diffuser (EUR 349) also gives the tail an even sportier look; the diffuser of course has a valid parts certificate, as does the front lip. It is also characterized by four striking fins and can accept two tailpipes per side; each pipe can be up to 90 millimeters thick. For example, the four pipes of the Supersprint exhaust system on the vehicle shown, which measure 90x70 millimeters in diameter (EUR 1,899).

The axles of the Audi feature a set of front-polished Cor.Speed Arrows rims with stainless steel beds in 10x20-inch ET48 (EUR 473 per wheel). They are covered with 255/30-type tires and are installed in combination with 15-millimeter spacers (EUR 45 each). In addition, the vehicle is lowered by using new H&R thread suspensions (EUR 642), which drop the car by 45 millimeters in the front and 35 millimeters in the rear. The look is rounded off by an optional performance improvement from DTE and a high-flow air filter.

The entire range of high-quality JMS products is available at car dealerships, well-stocked specialty or tire retailers, or directly from JMS Fahrzeugteile (www.jms-fahrzeugteile.de). All other facts, as well as price and delivery information for the entire JMS car parts program are available directly from:
