Barracuda meets Procars.tuning Swiss: Lamborghini Huracán on Dragoon wheels

If you want to drive an absolutely sensational mid-engine sports car, you can't go wrong with the Lamborghini Huracán. With its sharply drawn and wedge-shaped design, the Italian fighting bull has absolute eye-catching qualities even in the standard version. This is all the more true, of course, when the LP610-4, which is powered by a free-breathing 5.2-liter V10 with 610 hp and 560 Nm, is equipped with a high-quality set of rims from Barracuda Racing Wheels.

Exactly this modification was made by the Swiss specialists from Procars.tuning, based in Lodrino in Ticino, on the example presented here. They put the Huracán on the trendy Dragoon rims from Barracuda's Ultralight Series. Thanks to the production using the flow forged process, these are particularly lightweight. The associated unsprung mass is known to have a positive effect on driving dynamics - particularly important in a sports car! The dimensions of the wheels in High Gloss Bronze finish are 9x20 inches ET40 on the front axle and 10.5x20 inches ET25 on the rear axle. Unfortunately, there are no parts certificates for this application, so it is not intended for Germany, but only for export. The additional lowering of the vehicle is accomplished by KW coil springs.

Further insights into the world and work of the Procars.tuning team can be found on the Instagram page of the same name. The owner of the Lamborghini is also represented there: under the name "kappabii".
