

Press Release, Barracuda Racing Wheels Europe:
Bentley Continental GT with Ultralight Project 3.0 – noble gentleman with light wheels

Without a doubt, the Bentley Continental GT is the gentleman of cars. Nevertheless, sporty light-alloy wheels can also be an excellent match for a luxury status symbol like this, as the example shown here demonstrates.

As the Croatian point of contact for the wheelmakers at Barracuda Racing Wheels, the company Formula fitted the classy British automobile with Project 3.0 wheels from the weight-optimized, flow-formed wheel series "Ultralight". They have a striking black milled finish with a black surface and silver spoke contours milled using the patented Licardor method, and they measure 10.0"x20" and come with 285 tires.

Some might think that 20 inches is far too small for the Bentley Continental GT, but thanks to their filigree design and milled spoke contours, Project 3.0 look bigger than they actually are – as our pictures prove.
