Barracuda Meets Fahrzeugtechnik EFF: Audi A3 8V Cabriolet on Dragoon Wheels

We're deep in winter right now - long nights, cold temperatures, and snow and ice that we have to deal with every now and then. This time of the year can bring you down, but we're already on the right track: The days are getting longer, and spring and summer are definitely on their way. As soon as March, April, or at the latest May rolls around, the sun will start sending us its warming rays more regularly, and Cabriolet fans will once again eagerly take their open-top cars out of the garage and onto the streets. Just like this Audi A3 from the 8V series, which has been upgraded with a set of premium Barracuda Racing Wheels and other enhancements.

The conversion was carried out by Fahrzeugtechnik EFF, located in Bechhofen in Middle Franconia. The company is an official Barracuda and JMS Fahrzeugteile partner and installed Barracuda's Dragoon wheels on the Cabriolet. These wheels stand out with their asymmetrical design and extreme concavity. They measure 9x19 inches all around and contrast sharply with the car's green paint thanks to their gloss black finish. Notable accents include the golden center caps. The tires are sized 235/35R19.

To ensure a perfect wheel alignment under the fenders and enhance driving dynamics, a ST X coilover suspension was added to lower the car. Another eye-catching feature is the rear diffuser insert from Rieger Tuning, rounding out the look. And last but not least, a stainless steel sports exhaust system from Friedrich Motorsport provides a deeper, more powerful sound—one that can really be enjoyed to the fullest when cruising with the top down.
